Last Sunday, I was very happy to see Uncle Moseti at home. He had just come from Kitale. He had promised to buy for me a nice watch if I worked hard in school.

"Moli, how did you perform in school, last term?" Uncle Moseti asked me.

"I did very well in English and Mathematics."

"Wow! I am proud of you. Here is the watch I had promised you."

I was full of joy to own my first watch. I thanked Uncle Moseti. I went into the bedroom and kept the watch.

The next morning, I searched for the watch in my bag, but I did not find it.

"Moli, this watch is mine. I will not give it to you." Tata shouted. I snatched the watch from Tata. She started crying loudly.

"Tata stop crying. I will buy you a beautiful doll today." Uncle Moseti promised her.
